1 On Product Sales Practices	• Put yourself in your customer's shoes, and understand their needs first. • Know the products; the best way to understand the products is to use them regularly. • Use official QNET materials when presenting the products.	• Do not use false, misleading, deceptive, or unfair sales practices. • Do not overstate claims about the benefits of the products or their ingredients.
2 On Promoting the Compensation Plan	• Attend official QNET Compensation Plan trainings before presenting the plan. • Use only official QNET materials when presenting the business.	• Do not present the compensation plan without fully understanding it using the tools available in QNET official sites. • Do not create your own presentations and/or other marketing materials to prevent sharing misleading information.

If you are unsure of something, commit to giving accurate information only once you have it.	• Do not entice downlines from outside your Line of Referralship, in any way to sign under your sales team. • Do not use false statements or oversell the company, the business opportunity or product benefits.
4 On Income Earnings	• Know your Policies and Procedures • Practice the Code of Ethics • Understand the Income and Earnings disclaimer. • Understand the Compensation Plan and its restrictions.	• Do not guarantee, promise, represent or warrant to prospects a certain level of income.
