Today, most of us can hardly imagine a day without our mobile phones, computers or television sets. In many countries, over half the population use mobile phones and the mobile market continues to grow rapidly. Technology makes our life more convenient. However, they also come with harmful effects. Electronic devices emit a radiation field, otherwise known as 'electromagnetic fields (EMF)'. Although invisible to the human eye, electromagnetic fields can cause many harmful effects; exposure to a consistent external frequency for more than a few minutes can cause your body's electrical functionality to be disrupted. A variety of symptoms may occur, such as insomnia, difficulty in concentrating, anxiety, irritability, headaches, dizziness and similar responses.

What is the Amezcuá E-Guard?

- Provides protection for your body from the harmful effects of electrosmog emitted from:
  - mobile phones
  - computers
  - laptops
  - television sets
- Helps absorb problematic radiation frequencies, transforming them into frequencies that are more compatible with your body
- Discreetly attaches to your electronic devices
- Combines two technologies in one chip (quartz minerals):
  - Human Firewall Technology uses quartz minerals to absorb harmful frequencies
  - Energetic Programming allows the Amezcuá E-Guard to emit the energy value that promotes your wellbeing.
